

A timeless story of an aging fire engine and its fascinating history. An important part of Ingersoll, Ontario heritage comes alive in this stunning documentary about a legendary fire truck that escapes the scrap yard and rises to become a community icon. Journey into the past as Stan Uher's Classic Coachworks performs a concours restoration of a historically significant and much admired antique fire engine, affectionately known as 'Lorne.' Truly a beautifully told and well-documented story, Lorne becomes more than just a life saving invention from the advent of the motorcar. With wonderful images and documents from the past, the story is unveiled for the first time in an inspiring tale that rekindles the relationship between man and machine. Go behind the scenes at Classic Coachworks and meet the people responsible for Lorne's extensive restoration process. Be there to experience the glory and fulfillment in preserving a vital part of firefighting history.

Peer into the exciting world of restoration as you've never seen it before! See the incredible efforts made to ensure Lorne's originality, including the art of Gold Leaf Gilding. Enjoy the search for lost treasures that once adorned the antique fire engine and observe as hardware no longer made is manufactured from scratch to original specifications. Share in the warmth as a community bonds with its heritage when Lorne finally returns home in its original grandeur. Classic Coachworks presents a flawless restoration to a beloved fire engine that would overwhelm its original firefighting crew with joy. For all those who have ever gazed wide-eyed at an antique automobile, this is a rare opportunity to share a wondrous piece of Canadian nostalgia.
